

RESPECTING YOUR TALENT

Why have your CV professionally written?

GET NOTICED - FIRST IMPRESSIONS COUNT

As your CV is often the first impression that your potential employer will have of you, it's also one of the most important documents that you will ever need.

When it comes to putting together a great CV – be it for a contract or permanent position – knowing what to include and how to write in ways that get results come naturally to us.

We know how to transform tired and tedious technical CVs into powerful documents fully optimised for:

- 1 The human eye (recruiters and hiring managers)
- 2 Application Tracking Software (targeting keywords)
- 3 Robot Recruiters (identifying patterns within the phrasing of job posts and CVs)

WHY DO I NEED MY CV PROFESSIONALLY WRITTEN ?

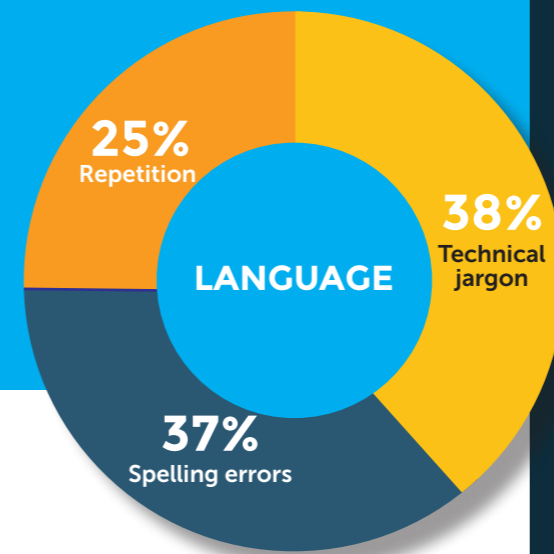

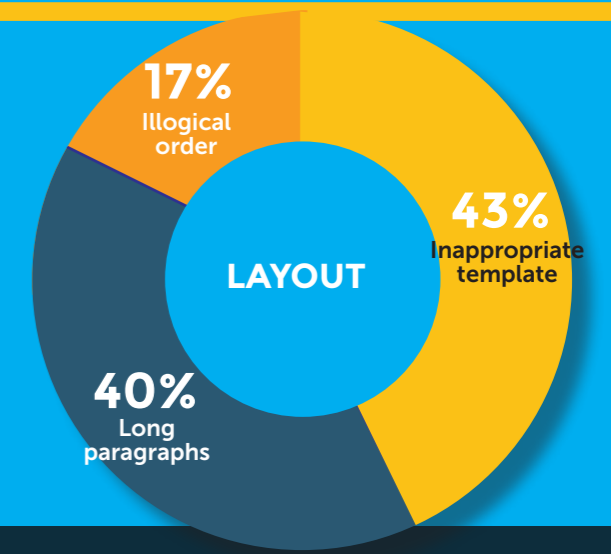

The recruitment process is changing with the use of more advanced and highly sophisticated linguistic algorithms. Unless your CV is structured to match the selection criteria, there's a high chance it will be rejected before it's ever read.

If your CV does appear in the search results, it needs to reflect what the recruiter or hiring manager expects from a candidate with the skills they desire.

Recruiters will spend at most 10 seconds initially reviewing each CV, so it's important to get it right.

How much of your CV can you read in 10 seconds?

IT'S TOO EASY TO GET IT WRONG

Here are the three main elements evaluated in every CV. Content, Layout and Language.

Once these three essential features are optimised, you'll stand a better chance of getting an interview - and your next job.

Our team has uncovered the most common errors, omissions and preventable mistakes from a sample of 150 engineering and technical CVs.
